Dear Parent/Carer,

Thank you to those of you who have made sure your ParentPay account is in credit so that trips and meals are paid for on time. We attempted to become a cashless office in September but many of you found this challenging.

Mr Bellevue, Mrs Springford and the office staff have readily helped to set up accounts but there are a few who still find working through ParentPay difficult. If you are one of them, please see Mr Bellevue who will help set up your account and train you in its use.

The office staff has asked me to congratulate the parents of Year Three as you are the first year group who have managed to pay for an educational visit through ParentPay without any exceptions! Well done Year Three, parents.

Photographs from yesterday's Year Three visit to the Natural History Museum are in this publication. Thank you to all who made this visit possible, in particular our parent volunteers.

Book donations wanted!

We are always grateful for donations of any children's books you no longer need. We are particularly interested at the moment as we are hoping to run another Book Swap Shop, following on from the success of previous ones. Please send any donations to Mrs Montanaro.

Soccability

On Tuesday 5th, a group of twelve children attended the Soccability Festival held at King George's Playing Field, Romford. Initially there were reservations from some of the children in attendance; however as the event went on all of the children displayed signs that they were thoroughly enjoying themselves. Two of the girls who attended stated that they would be interested in joining a football club.

As it was such a huge success, we have booked up to attend the next festival in March.

Natural History Museum

Year Three had a fantastic time yesterday when they took part in an educational visit to the Natural History Museum in South Kensington. From the moment they departed from school they were discussing the many things that they had learnt about volcanoes and earthquakes during their science and project lessons, as well as any homework which they had carried out.

On the journey home, when asked about their favourite moments, children couldn't pinpoint just one thing that they enjoyed the most, stating they loved everything!

The teachers cannot wait to see what the children will write about the memorable experience.
